

Ecology, Evolution, & Environment Seminar Series

Michaelmas Term 2019 Schedule

*Tuesdays from 4:00PM-5:00PM (unless otherwise noted) in the Whitehead
Room*

- 15 October: “Seals and killers in the roaring forties: Subantarctic Marion Island's marine mammal programme”
Nico de Bruyn \(University of Pretoria\)
- 22 October*: “The changing ecology of African malaria vectors and its implications for vector control”
Heather Ferguson \(University of Glasgow\)
*NOTE: This seminar will be held from 12PM-1PM
- 5 November*: “Springboards, water slides and sticky pools - how carnivorous pitcher plants catch their prey”
Ulrike Bauer \(University of Bristol\)
*NOTE: This seminar will be held from 12PM-1PM
- 19 November: “Data collection, host distribution mapping and epidemiological modelling for cassava brown streak disease management in sub-Saharan Africa”
Anna Szyniszewska \(University of Cambridge\)
- 26 November: “Fossil evidence for the complex origins of plant roots”
Sandy Hetherington \(University of Oxford\)
- 03 December*: “Shrubs, trees and soil carbon: implications of a greening Arctic”
Tom Parker \(University of Stirling\)
*NOTE: This seminar will be held from 12PM-1PM
- 10 December: “Origins of animal body plans: insights from the Cambrian fossil record”
Martin Smith \(Durham University\)